

Marketplace Growth Intern – Creators

We are CGTrader, the world's largest 3D model marketplace, and we're looking for proactive and curious Marketplace Growth Interns (Creators) to support the growth of our creator ecosystem. This fully remote internship is ideal for students who are comfortable working independently, enjoy research and communication, and want hands-on experience in marketplace growth and creator partnerships.

This is a short-term internship (2 months), with up to three positions available.

What You'll Do

- Research 3D print and CG designers from an existing creator database.
- Identify and reach out to creators on social platforms such as Instagram, YouTube, and X.
- Write and send personalized outreach messages via social DMs (AI tools are allowed, but thoughtful personalization is required).
- Communicate with creators and introduce them to CGTrader marketplace.
- Track outreach activities and results (contacts, replies, onboarded creators).
- Share insights on what works and suggest improvements to messaging or processes.

Depending on your interests, you may focus on one primary channel (e.g. Instagram, YouTube, or X).

What We're Looking For

- Student in Marketing, Business, Management, or a similar field.
- Excellent written and spoken English.
- Comfortable using social media platforms for professional communication.
- Ability to think critically and personalize outreach (even when using AI tools).
- Proactive attitude, attention to detail, and willingness to take responsibility for results.

Nice to have:

- Interest in Computer graphics, 3D printing or digital creators.
- Curiosity about marketplaces, startups, and growth.

What You'll Learn

- How creator-driven marketplaces grow and scale.
- Practical experience in creator outreach and partnerships.
- Understanding of growth metrics such as reply rates and conversions.
- Responsible and effective use of AI tools in marketing workflows.
- How creators monetize CG and 3D-printable products.

You'll also receive a short onboarding into the CG and 3D printing market and creator landscape.

Why CGTrader?

CGTrader is at the intersection of digital creation, 3D printing, and the creator economy. You'll work with an international team, gain real ownership over your work, and see direct results from your efforts in a global marketplace environment.

Successful interns will receive a LinkedIn recommendation and written reference, with the possibility to continue as a paid freelancer or junior specialist.
